For some reasons people buy more and more tours all inclusive. And they are not interested in culture other countries. Although sixty years ago tourists were eager to learn something new about other countries.

They are plenty of nice tourist places that are advertised on mass media and the internet and a lot of tourism agencies. Agencies prepare everything for travelers. People only have short break time, so they spend time without much more hard activities. People prefer taking relaxation in the best resort, and use all facilities. Most of travel agencies also organize sightseeing look around the city. As a result, tourists don't have enough time for learning local culture and cuisine. So what they get from traveling, it is only refreshment.

In past, the accessibility was limited. Travelers attempted to find their own way, get information from other travelers or from books. As result, people 1960's and 70's sought to get in other country, to have unforgettable holiday experiences.

As for me, I travel every year. And visit a lot of different countries like Jina, Korea, Vietnam, Thailand. And I do not like staying in hotels. I prefer find out something new about national culture, cuisine and people.
